THE HAWAIIAN LANGUAGE SHALL LIVE

The Pūnana Leo Movement grew out of a dream that there be reestablished throughout Hawai‘i the mana of a living Hawaiian language from the depth of our origins. The Pūnana Leo initiates, provides for and nurtures various Hawaiian Language environments, and we find our strength in our spirituality, love of our language, love of our people, love of our land, and love of knowledge.
The Pūnana Leo (Language Nest) family-based preschool program values as its top priority a distinctive Native Hawaiian mauli or identity. Among features of that mauli is a highly defining belief in the power of language. I ka ‘ōlelo nō ke ola; I ka ‘ōlelo nō ka make, (In language rests life, In language rests death).

One application of this saying is that as ‘ohana use the Hawaiian language in their activities, the Hawaiian mauli is brought to life. Another application rests in the worldview produced as a result of speaking Hawaiian, and the power of language as a true means to maintain traditional Hawaiian perspectives.

The vision statement of the ‘Aha Pūnana Leo focuses on establishing environments where the Hawaiian language can thrive. The Pūnana Leo preschools are key in actualizing that vision. Pūnana Leo is the foundation for an integrated P-20 system of education through the medium of Hawaiian, and places a very high value on the pursuit of education in acquiring an understanding of the broader world. Pūnana Leo has become the “gold standard” for early education indigenous language revitalization in the United States.

HI’I PĒPĒ
In August 2006, Pūnana Leo initiated the Hi’i Pēpē infant and toddler program in order to provide a Hawaiian language only environment for families who have chosen Hawaiian as the primary language of their home. Located on the campus of the Pūnana Leo o Hilo, infants as young as 6-weeks old participate in a full-day Hawaiian Medium Education program. To date, 67 families have participated in Hi’i Pēpē.

A GLIMPSE INTO OUR PEDAGOGY

Ulu Ke Keiki

Ma Ka Hana Ka ‘Ike
A process of learning that encourages analyzing and testing theories through practice.
Committed to meeting the diverse educational needs of the Hawaiian community, Kamehameha Schools began a partnership with ‘Aha Pūnana Leo under its Ho’olako Like program in 2007. Over the past 5 years, Kamehameha Schools has provided $6,613,333 to support Pūnana Leo programs across the State. In 2009, ‘Aha Pūnana Leo’s annual fundraiser event Ne’epapa I Ke Ō Mau honored Ka ‘Ohana Kamehameha, He ‘Ōpu Ali‘i, (The Kamehameha Family, A Tradition of Hawaiian Leadership) and recognized this partnership that has become a cornerstone for the Pūnana Leo program.

One of the core values of the Pūnana Leo is aloha ‘āina – to be responsible stewards of our natural resources. To support that value, cultivating an organic garden is an integral part of the Pūnana Leo curriculum. Keiki regularly maintain a garden on site, which in turn provide healthy snack choices for the school. Since 2009, Hau‘oli Mau Loa Foundation has generously provided $200,000 each year to the Pūnana Leo o Hilo to support and further develop the outdoor learning environment experience.

For Hawaiian, the traditional method of learning to read is by syllables. Syllabic reading accesses an early level of child cognitive development. Cognitive development alignment and orthographic regularity (each symbol has one pronunciation) leads to rapid reading fluency, often at age 4. Pūnana Leo graduates enter kindergarten reading to learn rather than learning to read. Speaking and reading two different languages also improves concentration. Students recognize that different languages are systems of symbols – an understanding crucial in developing academic skills in mathematics and science.
The last mānaleo in my family was my great grandfather, Paul Mahaulu. I never had the chance to meet him or hear him speak a word of his native tongue. My father shared that societal pressures and assimilation to American culture encouraged English speaking only, and so my Tūtū kāne died without passing the language on to his children.

I applied for the Lamakū scholarship program and received the financial means and culturally based academic support to realize my dream of learning the Hawaiian language. Speaking Hawaiian is our right, but the resources to learn our language is a gift that I'm deeply grateful for.

'Olelo Hawai'i has since transformed the direction of my life. Everything I see, do, and touch is within the framework of the Hawaiian language. It has given me the gift to be intentional in life, in thought, and in my relationships. It has given me a solid identity and purpose, and a lens through which I interact with the land and the sea.

I'm deeply grateful for the gift bestowed upon me by 'Aha Pūnana Leo. I have come to a place in my life experiences and career growth where it is important for me to give back so that others can join me in learning the language of our homeland.

The Honuakai Exploration Sciences and Voyaging Division provides families a pathway to knowing and experiencing Hawaiian perspectives and traditions of land and ocean stewardship, way finding, seamanship and navigation by utilizing the deep sea voyaging canoe Hōkūalakaʻi (Guiding Star) and the coastal training double-hull canoes Keaʻeloa (the northeast tradewind) and Maiau (Expertly Skilled, named in honor of master canoe and woodworker Uncle Jerry Ongies).

In 2007-2008, Hōkūalakaʻi, and her alternating crew of 20 fluent Hawaiian speakers, including high school students from Ke Kula ʻo Nāwahiokalaniʻōpuʻu followed the path of Hawaiian Scholar and legislator ʻIosepa Nāwahi o kalani ʻōpuʻu from Hilo to Hāna, then continued to Lahaina, Molokaʻi, Oʻahu Kauaʻi, and Niʻihau before returning to Hilo. Also honored on this sail was renowned historian David Malo, and ʻElia Kapahulehua, the first captain of Hōkūleʻa. Throughout the journey, students gained valuable experience in teamwork and leadership, and reflected upon the example set by Nāwahi - to be fearless when facing adversity, and always prepared to overcome obstacles set before us.

ʻIMI I KA PONO
Students and their parents participated in Hawaiian cultural activities including making a paddle and sailing.

RETRACING OUR PAST
Provided a fluent Hawaiian speaking crew for Hōkūleʻa’s Kū Holo Mau, Kū Holo Lā Komohana - a 7-week sail through Japan that followed the path of King Kalākaua from Okinawa to Hiroshima.

KŪLIA I KA PONO
Through a contract with the Kamehameha Schools, Honuakai provided (6) one-week leadership and voyaging camps. Students obtain experience in rescue tests and procedures, reading the Hawaiian star compass, and are able to identify all the stars in the sky that are visible during their week. Key concepts include interdependence, communication, and contributing to find solutions.

READY TO LAUNCH
The ‘Aukai Imiloa program for the students of Ke Kula ʻo Nāwahiokalaniʻōpuʻu includes seamanship, survival, fishing and gathering, way finding, non-instrument navigation, teamwork, and interdependence.
Niuolahiki is named for a legendary coconut tree who transports his grandchild from Hawai’i to a distant land far across the ocean. Likewise, the Niuolahiki Distance Learning program extends its culturally rooted Hawaiian language program throughout the world. Since 2009 nearly 2,000 online learners have embarked on their distance-learning journey.

The online forum is key in providing ongoing professional development for the teachers and staff of the Pūnana Leo preschools.

“This is not like any other language course; it’s language that is on the brink of extinction…”

MAKELA BRUNO-KIDANI

In 2010, Niuolahiki provided Hawaiian language classes for high school students at Hawai’i Preparatory Academy as a bridge. Classes were held 3 times a week, and were facilitated twice a month by Makela Bruno-Kidani, a fluent Hawaiian language speaker, and former director at the Pūnana Leo o Waimea. The value of this course was two-fold. Students not only benefitted by learning a second language, but also gained valuable skill in time management, a skill necessary for both independent learning, and college preparation. “This is not like any other language course; it’s language that is on the brink of extinction, so the students need to realize that they’re part of language revitalization. They’re part of something that’s really big and important in terms of where they’re living and the Hawaiian culture”.

“…In my opinion it is imperative that they understand the language before I allow them the right of passage…”

KALANI PO’OMAIHEALANI

Kalani Po’omaihealani, Po’okumu of Hawai’i Aloha Academy in Tokyo, Japan presented a Niuolahiki Hawaiian language module to the winner of the oli competition at the 2011 George Holokai Lei Aloha Festival in Tokyo, Japan. Facilitated by Miki Kawachi, a former Hawaiian language instructor residing in Japan, students at Hawai’i Aloha Academy who are seeking to become kumu hula participate in weekly Hawaiian language classes. “In my opinion it is imperative that they understand the language before I allow them the right of passage especially because they aren’t native to Hawai’i. I require much more from them than most kumu hula require from their haumāna.”
In 2008, the ‘Aha Pūnana Leo embarked on a bold new initiative to leverage the power of the media to pursue its mission of “E Ola Ka ‘Ōlelo Hawai‘i” through a daily Hawaiian language news segment that aired on local CBS affiliate KGMB. The segment was titled ‘Āha‘i ‘Ōlelo Ola (Messenger of a Living Language) and was hosted by Amy Kalili. In 2009, ‘Āha‘i ‘Ōlelo Ola expanded to include a twice-monthly half-hour news magazine. Also in 2009, Ms. Kalili was embedded with the KGMB crew covering the Presidential Inauguration of Barack Obama and delivered a live satellite segment in mixed Hawaiian and English to one of the largest viewing audiences in Hawai‘i television.

Building on the successes of ‘Āha‘i ‘Ōlelo Ola, the ‘Aha Pūnana Leo partnered with two Hawaiian broadcast media organizations to create the Native Hawaiian Broadcast Media Training Program. This program was funded by the Administration of Native Americans Social and Economic Development Strategies initiative and is impacting community development by ensuring that the Hawaiian language and Hawaiian perspective are the foundation upon which a new Hawaiian broadcast industry is built. This innovative program is leveraging the power of broadcast media as the next big step in revitalizing the Hawaiian language by taking the language outside of classrooms and into homes.

Developed and administers a year-long internship program for college age students interested in pursuing broadcast media careers from a Hawaiian perspective through the Hawaiian language. Interns participate in the production of the news episodes and documentaries that air on local television and the Internet.

Training of 15 Native Hawaiian interns, 8 of which have been hired full-time by the Program’s partners ʻŌiwi TV and Palikū Documentary Films.

70+ hours of broadcast quality Hawaiian language television programming, including more than 1000 Hawaiian language news stories.
Twenty-Seven years ago, with less than 50 speakers of Hawaiian under the age of 18, it was evident that the Hawaiian language - and the unique identity of the Hawaiian people carried within the intricacies of that language - was on the brink of extinction. Focusing their efforts to nurture a generation of new young speakers that would once again be able to describe the world through the lens of their language and culture, a small group of educators formed ‘Aha Pūnana Leo (Language Nest Corporation).

‘Aha Pūnana Leo (‘APL) is a 501(c)3 family-based organization founded in 1983. Its mission, E Ola Ka ‘Ōlelo Hawai‘i - that the Hawaiian language lives as a normal language of daily life - is recognized by the Hawai‘i State Constitution, the federal Native American Languages Act of 1990, and by the International Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. ‘Aha Pūnana Leo is the oldest Native American language nest organization in the U.S. and also the only entity administering and operating early childhood education through the State of Hawai‘i’s official Hawaiian language.

‘APL programs are located on 5 major islands in the State of Hawai‘i and consist of 11 Pūnana Leo preschools, Hi‘i Pēpē infant-toddler program, Honuakai Exploration Sciences and Voyaging program, Niuolahiki Online Hawaiian Language program, a broadcast media division, and in partnership, administers 3 laboratory public charter schools.

Stakeholders include over 15,000 Hawaiian language speakers as well as over 300 corporations and non-profit organizations that support the movement to re-establish Hawaiian as a daily living language. To date, Hawaiian is the most widely studied Native American language.

In order to ensure a quality educational experience, ‘Aha Pūnana Leo is an active participant in the Native Hawaiian Education Council and has shared the Kumu Honua Mauli Ola Hawaiian Educational Philosophy with the Council to develop a set of educational guidelines for Culturally Healthy and Responsive Learning Environments. These guidelines were endorsed by thirty-four educational entities in Hawai‘i.
WHAT DOES IT COST TO EDUCATE A PŪNANA LEO STUDENT?
Pūnana Leo is a year-round program, running from the beginning of August through the end of June. A full day, 10-hour program costs $15,500 per student per year. A typical Pūnana Leo Preschool educates 24 students and costs approximately $372,000 per year.

DOES MY CHILD NEED TO BE HAWAIIAN?
Hawaiian ancestry is not a requirement for application to the Pūnana Leo program. All families are welcome.

HOW DO PARENTS WHO DON’T SPEAK HAWAIIAN SUPPORT THEIR CHILD’S EDUCATION?
Weekly Hawaiian language classes are held at each school site to support the entire family. Extended family and community members are also encouraged to attend.

WILL MY CHILD FALL BEHIND IN ENGLISH OR IN GENERAL ACADEMIC SKILLS?
No. Students who enroll in Hawaiian medium education consistently perform as well or better than their English-only counterparts here in Hawai‘i. In fact, graduates from Hawaiian Medium Education Programs statewide have been accepted and have graduated from prestigious universities such as Stanford, Loyola Marymount and Oxford University.

HOW DOES ‘AHA PŪNANA LEO (’APL) COVER ITS OPERATING EXPENSES?
Families pay an annual tuition of $6,050. The remaining $9,450 for each student is covered by ‘APL and its supporters.

’APL seeks additional funding from community partners such as Kamehameha Schools and competes for state and federal grants.

WHAT IS THE LONG-RANGE PLAN FOR SUSTAINABILITY?
Partner with State Agencies
’APL actively engages in discussions with state agencies to ensure that programs developed to support Early Childhood Education initiatives include the Pūnana Leo. In June 2012, ‘APL executive Nāmaka Rawlins was appointed by the Governor to serve as the representative for Hawaiian medium education on the Early Learning Advisory Board.

Lower Rental Facility Costs
’APL is focused on partnering with community and state agencies to lower facility rental costs. Recently, ‘APL began a partnership with the Hawai‘i State DOE to utilize unused classroom space at the Hau‘ula Elementary School on the island of O‘ahu. ‘APL will continue to actively pursue more of these types of partnerships.

Partner with Native Hawaiian Organizations
Although Hawaiian ancestry has never been a requirement to participate in our program, typically 98% of Pūnana Leo students are Native Hawaiian. ‘APL is committed to partnering with Native Hawaiian organizations to meet the collective goal of serving the most vulnerable members of our community and strengthening Native Hawaiian families.

Increase Tuition Revenue
’APL is also adjusting its tuition model while remaining committed to the 72% of our families that fall at or below the recognized federal poverty guidelines for free and reduced lunch program. In the 2013-2014 school year the portion of overall costs covered by tuition revenue is expected increase from 39% to 44%.

Seek Accreditation To Qualify for Increased Support
Children who attend accredited preschools qualify for a higher amount of tuition assistance through state and private agencies. Currently 73% of Pūnana Leo families receive some type of tuition assistance.

’APL is currently pursuing international accreditation through the World Indigenous Nations Higher Education Consortium (WINHEC) and is optimistic that the Pūnana Leo preschools will become the first in the world accredited by WINHEC at the early childhood education level.

Build An Endowment For Future Generations
Knowing that private support will play an increasingly important role in maintaining Pūnana Leo as a world-class model for indigenous language revitalization, ‘APL is planning for the future by continuing to build an endowment to ensure funding in perpetuity. In 1999, the Lannan Foundation visited ‘APL and realized the value of the Pūnana Leo model for all indigenous communities. Their initial gift of $1MM to start an endowment in 2000 was followed by an additional $1MM gift in 2001. ‘APL is working with leaders in the business community to build an endowment over the next 10 years that will be able to cover operating expenses in future years.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT
KAUANOE KAMANĀ

It began with a dream and a commitment to persevere with our mission in mind, E Ola Ka ʻŌlelo Hawai‘i - The Hawaiian Language Shall Live. Political barriers, financial difficulties, skepticism and stereotypes were overcome so that the vision could be realized. While we celebrate the success of growing the number of students from less than 50 Hawaiian language speakers under the age of 18 to over 10,000 today, we are also mindful that the fulfillment of the vision has only just begun.

The achievements of the first 30 years were made possible through the help of families and individuals who invested resources in our mission, particularly those who became a living part of the movement to save the Hawaiian language. The next 30 years will require the same commitment and support of those who care about Hawai‘i and the unique cultural identity preserved through the Hawaiian language. We hope that our work inspires others in communities around the world to save ancestral language and culture - the responsibility is ours.

Our language links our past and our future.

Join us.

Dr. Kauanoe Kamanā is a founding member of the ‘Aha Pūnana Leo and serves as its President. She was born in Honolulu and raised in Kālāhe‘o and Kālāma ‘ula, Moloka‘i. She is the director of U.H. Hilo’s P-20 Hawaiian medium education laboratory school Nāwahīokalaniʻōpu‘u. As a teacher and administrator, she works with students, teachers and families to re-establish the vibrancy of Hawaiian language and culture in Hawai‘i. Kauanoe believes that we all have a role in carrying the legacy of Hawaiian language into the future.

Since 1996, Princess Abigail Kinoiki Kekaulike Kawanakoa has been a strong supporter of the Pūnana Leo preschools, donating over $500,000 in program support. In 2007, her dedication to the keiki of Hawai‘i and the Hawaiian language was honored at the annual Ne‘epapa I Ke Ō Mau fundraiser where she helped to raise over $380,000 and personally contributed $60,900.

Each month, Kawanakoa Foundation donates $1,000 to the Pūnana Leo o Hilo to help offset the cost of teaching staff at that site. The impact of her generous and steadfast support has touched the lives of hundreds of children and their families in one of the most impoverished communities in the State of Hawai‘i.

“I’m so proud of the Pūnana Leo. Through learning our language, these children will keep our nation, our people, going. I encourage Pūnana Leo to preserve our traditional ways to tell the story about us.”
Neʻepapa I Ke Ō Mau

‘Aha Pūnana Leo’s fundraiser Neʻepapa I Ke Ō Mau (Forever Moving Forward) aims to bring awareness to the vision, E Ola Ka ‘Ōlelo Hawai‘i, The Hawaiian Language Shall Live. At Neʻepapa we share our milestones of success with those in the education and business community. Annually, the event draws over 300 guests from across the State as well as the continental United States.

The goal of raising awareness and advocacy for Hawaiian medium education is coupled with the need to raise funds to offset tuition costs for families who typically do not qualify for assistance. ‘Aha Pūnana Leo is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization which relies on the generosity of businesses and individuals who believe in our mission. Mahalo nui loa to the businesses, organizations and individuals who have generously supported our programs and become advocates of the vision, E Ola Ka ‘Ōlelo Hawai‘i, The Hawaiian Language Shall Live.

Private support plays an integral role in maintaining the ‘Aha Pūnana Leo. The greatest example of the long-term power of private support is the endowed fund. Gifts made to the endowment impact the lives of families across the State year after year. In addition to providing a solid foundation of Hawaiian medium education for future leaders of Hawai’i, gifts to the endowment also allow Pūnana Leo family support staff to provide culturally based life coaching to primary caregivers, inspiring their capacity to contribute to the school, local community and most importantly to the positive academic and social growth of their child.

In 2010, Victor “Lanakila” Rittenband left a bequest of $1.2 million to the ‘Aha Pūnana Leo. It was conveyed that Lanakila and his wife Nancy left this bequest because of their belief that the culture is perpetuated through language and music. “Our lives were greatly enriched by the people and culture of Hawai’i.”

Originally from New Jersey, Victor Rittenband came to Hawai’i to work for First Insurance Co. in 1964. It was in Hawai’i that he met his wife, Nancy Gustafsson, originally from Denmark and Sweden, and they married in 1969. Together they shared a passion for Hawaiian music and hula and wrote and recorded many songs. Victor was bestowed the name Lanakila – meaning “victorious, winner” by composer Soloman K. Wright of the Hawaii’ Professional Songwriters Society.

Lanakila is quoted as saying, “Hawai’i is your real home and your spiritual home. There are many islands in the world with white sandy beaches, rolling waves and swaying palm trees, but it is the culture and the spirit of Hawai’i’s people and ancestors that make us unique. It must be preserved, and that responsibility is in your hands to cherish, perpetuate and, in your turn, to inspire your children and families. It is the uniqueness and diversity of the Hawaiian culture that betters all of us.”

The ‘Aha Pūnana Leo is a non-profit, family-based educational organization dedicated to the revitalization of the Hawaiian language. We are committed to providing the community with high quality programs that align with our vision and mission. We rely on the generosity of the communities we serve to ensure that our programs continue.
